Three square blocks in the heart of Manhaltan have been declared by congress a "free port." Thus Rockefeller center, bounded by Fifth and Sixth avenues, and 48th and 51st streets, will take rank with such cities as Hamburg, Cophenhagen and Danzig. as a tariff-free "city."

That doesn't mean that Rockefeller City can import goods free of duty and then sell them to Americans outside its own confines. But it does mean that exhibitors or importers can bring their stuffs in without impost, show these wares to the public, and if they don't sell them, ship them out again.

And what with the British and French setting up their own national buildings in the center, it begins to look as though one might have to have a passport to get in there.

"I have suffered with constipa-tion for years. A friend of mine told me to try ALL-BRAN. I have taken ALL-BRAN for the past six weeks as a breakfast food. It has regulated my bowels as clockwork. Now I would not be without a package at all times." — Mr. Leslie Gelpke, 273 Ridgewood Ave., Newark, N. J. Common constipation—with its headaches, loss of appetite, sleep-lessness—is due to lack of "bulk" to exercise the intestines, Vitamin

B to help tone the intestinal tract. Both are present in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, as well as iron for the blood. The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. Being a natural corrective, ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming.

Try ALL-BRAN in place of pills and drugs—so often harmful. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—serious cases with every meal. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Though only .03 of an inch of rain was recorded at the local office, the weather bureau officials stated that there was a much heavier rain to the south and that there was robably more rain there than in the city proper. The rainfall deficiency for the month was thus recorded Thursday night as 1.70 inches and the amount of rainfall for the month reached 2.42 inches.

of rainfall for the month reached 2.42 inches.

Wednesday the rainfall was recorded at .38 of an inch. The long dry spell, according to Mr. Scott, has been of great benefit to the state cotton crop though the corn, melon and truck crops were slightly damaged. Sweet potatoes and peanuts were in good condition generally. Though Atlanta reported but the .38 of an inch rainfall Wednesday night Thomasville reported 2.04 inches and other sections of the state received heavy rains.

The thunder showers of Wednesday washed away many of the breeding places of mosquitoes, declared W. H. Edwards Jr., of the sanitary department, Thursday. The long dry spell saw many puddles and stagnant pools which were conducive to mosquito breeding, he said, but the rains of Wednesday wiped them out. He issued a warning at the same time that owners of lily ponds should drain them at least once every 15 days to avoid this mosquito breeding.

Seven large exits, conspicuously marked with letters. No less than 300 volunteers giving their free days to organize and direct the crowd. A clear voice on the radio announcing departures of trains. Two special exits for children's excursions. Forty-five for children's excursions. Forty-five ticket windows, Such were the prep-

I spent the whole morning looking on. The efficiency was in so marked a contrast to what I had seen before at railway stations that I made special inquiries. ### Adding Fresh Fuel Can't Mend Matters If the Fire Has Burned Out -By Robert Quillen-

The first and wisest of America's natural philosophers cultivated a habit that would overcome the gnawing discontent of moderns. He learned to "diet his senses." He doubled the pleasure of indulgence by prolonging the period of self-denial. The gastric fluid needed in medicine is not obtained from well-fed swine. The victims are starved until the time of sacrifice and then dispatched when the sight of food has caused their digestive juices to flow abundantly in eager anticipation.

The capacity for pleasant anticipation is natural to all creatures, an none habitually destroys it except man.

The zest of life depends almost wholly on the ability to desire, yet man, the only creature endowed with reason, is the only one to indulge himself until desire is dead. Our chief characteristic as a people is self-indulgence. From the cradle to the grave we deny ourselves nothing that lies within our reach.

And because prosperity has enabled us to reach much, we have called ourselves the most fortunate of people. Perhaps we were the most fortunate, but lack of wisdom made our good fortune a curse.

Have you ever wondered why nature requires each generation to learn by experience? Have you wondered why the young do not inherit the knowledge and visdom so painfully acquired by their fathers?

Nature's ways are wise. It is the pleasure of anticipation that in pires the development of youth. Experiment and discovery and the thrill of new experience make life a joyous adventure. A child all knowledge would be doomed to insufferable boredom. In all of a dull and profitless world there would be nothing new to entice it or whet

Many modern youngsters find life a bore, but the fault isn't nature's. They are cheated of their birthright by over-indulgent parents. They are victims of the foolish American creed that too much of everything makes happiness. The discontented are the fed-up, the surfeited. They are victims of satiety. They have gorged on life until it sickens them. Self-indulgence has destroyed appetite and nothing remains to afford a kick. Your most precious possession is desire. It is your inspiration, your source of pleasure, the salt that savors existence. Exhaust your store of it and all that remains of life is ashes.

One ingredient in the supply house recipe and not in mine is zinc peroxide. If the neighborhood druggist has this or can obtain it, the addition of 10 to 20 grains to the ounce of salve might improve the formula. Zinc peroxide is a powder which, like the familiar hydrogen peroxide solution, liberates oxygen when it comes in contact with blood or organic secretions, with considerable ebullition or foaming.

TO CAN TOMATO JUICE.

TO CAN TOMATO JUICE To can tomato juice, prepare the tomatoes by washing them, cutting off any imperfections and all stems. Then chop them coarsely, place them in a stewing pan and cook them 15 minutes. Put them through a sieve large enough to allow part of the pulp to pass through, but none of the seeds or skins. Fill this liquid into glass jars, add 1 teaspoon salt to each quart of it. Seriew or clamp the lids down tightly over clean, new rubber rings, and process the tomato juice exactly as for the tomatoes themselves. To can tomato juice, prepare the to consider the tomato funce exactly as for the tomatos themselves.

Some women prefer to can a tomato purce, making the tomato juice out of this by adding more water to it when ready to serve it. This is done by forcing more of the tomato, pulp through the sieve than is done ordinarily for the tomato juice. The pulp is then canned thick, as for purce. This is a good method to follow when pantry space is at a premium, or storage room is small.

This tomato purce may then be used as the basis for sauces, or soups of all kinds, jelled salads and other tomato dishes. If the tomato juice is canned with full intentions of using it as an auxiliary food for babies, the salt should be left out. It may easily be seasoned if it is then desired to use some of it for the rest of the family.

NEW YORK, July 28.—(UP)—Henry Ford has not changed his opinion on prohibition, and is still convinced that "there is not one per cent of the drinking done in the United States that was done formerly."

Writing in the current issue of Collier's Weekly, the automobile manufacturer refused the assertion that prohibition is responsible for crime and contempt of law.

"Anyone who charges it to prohibition," said Ford, "will be nearer the truth of he charges it to liquor. And the cure is not more liquor, but less."

Ford believes that if prohibiton becomes a national issue, in the present presidential race or any other campaign, it will be overwhelmingly indorsed by the people.

"We shall see a hundred years of national conscience rolled into one indignant act that shall silence the question for all time." he wrote.

He reiterates his own contempt for alcohol forcefully.

"I have never known a drinker," he declared. "even a moderate one, if there is such a thing, who has stood the test of crisis."

The manufacturer repeats an argument he has always favored—that the machine age has made it necessary to eliminate liquor.

5-DAY WEEK PARLEY

5-DAY WEEK PARLEY IS CALLED BY HOOVER

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(P)—
President Hoover will undertake next Monday a new move to spread employment throughout the nation by means of a wider use of the five-day week in industry.

The chief executive issued a call late Wednesday to representatives of a recent New England joint conference on re-employment to meet with headmaster's speech by the afternoon newspapers.

Mr. Blakiston said there was no comparison between the boys of today and those of 30 years ago. The keen adventurous outdoor sportsmen of other days has been replaced, he asserted by youths who do not know how to saddle a horse and who deek them selves out like peacocks so they will look pretty.

It is his belief that the old spirit of adventure is largely gone and initiative is considerably impaired. Nowadays he said, youths are unwilling to go abroad to seek their fortune.

Mr. Blakiston blamed it on the war.

"It was agreed," the official statement said, "that the southern state commissions would proceed at once to prepare exceptions to the examiners' recommendations and insist that the southern industries be protected by having the same level of rates as is recommended for the manufacturers in the north." Commissioner Woodruff stated that the principle involved ruff stated that the principle involved in this adjustment is of the utmost importance to every manufacturer in Georgia, for the reason that if the principle of rate making recommendprinciple of rate making recommend-ed by the examiners of the interstate commerce commission should be adopted it will permit manufacturers in the north and east to flood Georgia with their manufactured products with lower rates than prevail in the territory and will curtail the market-ing territory of the Georgia manufac-turers to a radius of not more than

Bolivian Troops Moving To Front Near Peruvian Border.

BUENOS AIRES, July 28.—(UP)
Feverish military preparations in the Gran Chaco jungle region and the appearance of Bolivian airplanes over the scene of recent military clashes tonight intensified the threat of war between Paraguay and Bolivia as a result of their long-standing frontier dispute.

While neutral nations prepared to bring pressure for peace at the most critical moment, the Bolivian government informed Washington it could not accept the plea to resume negotia-forecast by Mr. Hoover, had not yet taken place.

Between conferences, directors continued to press forward in their task of making loans to needy industries and to the states for individual relief. A $3.000.000 loan already has gone forward to Illinois.

Miller, 64, is president of the Utica Sanvings bank. After graduating from Harvard in 1890, he was admitted to the bar in Utica and later was chosen vice president of the New York State Bar Association.

While practicing law he interested himself in banking and became president of the New York State Bar Association in 1909.

Miller has been chairman of the regional committee of the Reconstruction Corporation's activities in the second federal reserve district, embracing New York.

Pomerene, Miller and Secretary Mills today held an early morning conference with Mr. Hoover at which it was said the former's new duties were discussed. The erstwhile Ohio senator and government prosecutor in the Teapot Dome oil scandal spent the day in conference with his new colleagues before returning to his home for the week-end. The rate on manufactures is one per cent. The rate on wholeselers is one-eighth of one per cent. The tax on professions and trades is two per cent of the gross income. Twelve hundred dollars of gross business is exempt.

Methods of collection are drastic. Returns and remittances above a $10 fax must be made monthly. All refax must be made monthly. All returns must be made under oath. The taxpayer must keep "suitable" records of gross sales and income and must preserve for two years all invoices and books.

Records Examined.

These records may be examined at any time by the tax commissioner or his agents. The tax is a lien upon the property of any person subject to it who may quit business or sell out.

If the tax is not paid within 60 days after due, the commissioner may issue a warrant ordering the sheriff to levy upon and sell the real and personal property of the tax payer for the full amount of the tax, plus 10 percent damages, plus penalties for failure to make a return or for making a fraudulent return, plus interest on

Some bonus seekers refused to budge before the cavalry, but the infantry followed through, and with the butts of their rifles poked the resisting men along in a furious, wild riot.

After clearing the disputed areas in Washington proper the troops were ordered to finish off the day by breaking up Camp Marks, the main encampment of the veterans on Anacostia river.

President Hoover in ordering out the troops, explained that many of those who remained after congress adjourned were "not veterans; many are communists and persons with criminal records."

BEWARE OF STALE GASOLINE!

ONLY fresh GAS PACKS FULL POWER!

THE longer gas is stored, the weaker it gets. Volatile "easy starting" elements evaporate. In addition, a definite chemical change takes place - so that as gas gets staler, it gets feebler and feebler!

Stale gas is stickier, too-and is far more apt to knock. The entire petroleum industry has long known these facts -has long sought a way to halt gasoline deterioration.

Now, by radical advances in refining and distributing, Gulf protects you from staleness-assures you of getting FRESH, full-powered gasoline. In this way . . .

By making the finest possible gasoline and by refining out of that gas the elements which cause fast deterioration-"staleness." Hence Gulf gas stays FRESH longer. And by rushing you this FRESH-MADE gas like some perishable food-giving it no chance to get stale. Careful location of Gulf refineries has made this possible. So wisely are these refineries placed that every Gulf station is close to a source of FRESH-MADE gas. A huge fleet of tank trucks rushes FRESH gas to Gulf pumps every day.

BANKS PLAN OUTLETS FOR GEORGIA PRODUCE

Zone Meetings of Association Feature Discussion of Varied Farming.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., July 28.—(P)
Zone F, of the Georgia Bankers' Association, met in midsummer session here this afternoon with an attendance that not only included bankers, but farm leaders of this section and representatives of the State College of Agriculture. The meeting was presided over by A. M. Ricks, cashier of the National Bank of Brunswick, who is zone chairman.

The afternoon session was turned over to H. Grady Lankford, chairman of the agricultural committee of the Georgia Bankers' Association, while a new phase of agricultural development was discussed, that of providing markers and other outlets for perishable farm products and markets or suitable storage for staple farm products. It is the further purpose of the farm program to create outlets for surplus canned products by local community canneries.

Farm leaders from the state college and from several near-by counties were on the program, including J. Phil Campbell, director of extension work of the state college; J. R. Ricks, supervisor of animal husbandry of the college; L. V. Crawley, special district marketing agent; Mrs. Leile Mize, specialist in marketing home products, and Mrs. Don Barnes, of Royston, "live-at-home" representative of the Georgia Federation of Woman's Clubs.

At the night session there was a general discussion led by William Mizell Jr., president of the Citizens' Bank of Folkston.

BANKS BACK REGIONAL

Speakers at the meeting said the goal of the movement was the establishment in Georgia of marketing and processing centers where sale could be found for the state's surplus crops.

The smart new cloth coats are the essence of trigness from the waist down-perfectly straight with a deep wrap to the side and a secure fastening with one or more buttons, not too low.

The "body" of the coat is most important—it should give the impression of a slightly higher waistline than last year, but the cut should never be too intricate.

These essential features to the 1932 cloth coat are detailed in the sketch at the left, a distinctive model of Needlepoint with a Silver Fox fur.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited, Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

I am having a terrible time with my eighteen-year-old daughter. She popular with the boys and she seems to despise boys. As a result, she is gradually being forced out of their good dimes. She is wretched and unhappy and spends her days moping and her nights crying. I can't reason with her, nor will she speak frankly to me about her peculiarity. I can't bear to see her in such a frame of mind and I feel that I must do something yet don't know what to do. Please tell me if this is an unheard-of thing. I never knew of a case like it. Mrs. F. L. T.

ANSWER:

It is an unnatural state of affairs but by no means an unheard-of one. There may be several explanations of the poor girl's peculiar attitude. There is often a physical basis for unnatural states of mind. The best thing you can do is to take your daughter to the doctor. It frequently happens that a girl is willing to speak freely to a physician when she will not discuss her problems with her own mother. It is likely, too, that the girl is one of those unfortunates that do not an-self-conscious and more miserable, and to confirm her fears.

There is something infinitely pathetic about a young girl that hasn't learned how to take defeat gracefully nor how to turn defeat into victory and who like Achilles sulks in her tent.

and who like Achilles sulks in her tent.

It is possible that your daughter is one of those rare women that actually dislikes men. In the old days before we knew much about the hidden aspects of the mind, we accepted conduct at its face value but now that the scientists have succeeded in turning the mind in side out there are not many pathological symptoms that defy analysis and therefore prevent correction of the trouble. Things are not always what they seem sex-wise. There is no valid reason for a girl's life to be ruined by complexities that neither she nor her mother understands. There are experts in every city whose business and pleasure it is to simplify the complexities and to teach the patient to deal rationally with baffling problems. If neither the family physician, nor the girl and her mother can cope with the problem that frets and threatens to ruin a young life, then they should consult one of these experts.

these unfortunates that do not appeal to the boys or strike them as at all attractive. Young people are cruel with each other without knowing it. If young boys don't like a girl particularly they make no effort to hide the fact. They simply attach themselves to the ones they find companionable and leave the lonely one to her own devices.

If your daughter feels that she fares hadly by comparison with the other girls of her set and is sensitive about it, it is only natural for her to withdraw from the society of those that make the comparison. And until she gets more confidence in herself it is probably not a bad move. Don't try to force her and don't let her see that you are fretted over her failure. This would only serve to make her more Calling attention to a ruling of the state highway board banning political activity of employees, Hunter A. Manning, candidate for public service commissioner. Thirsday addressed a letter to the public service commission requesting that body "to take action a once to see that the bus and truck inspectors let politics alone and attend to the duties they are paid to perform.

Manning, in his protest, said:

"It has come to my attention repeatelly, and from sources which I consider quite reliable, that men employed by the Public Service commission's jurisdiction are engaging themselves very actively in support of Mr. Felton, tacking up his cards, distributing his literature and soliciting votes for him. On Wednesday of last week I attended, by invitation, a general political rally held at Americus. A bus and truck inspector employed by your commission, and assigned to a definite patrol territory 150 miles distant from Americus, also attended the rally and put in a very busy day in behalf of Mr. Felton."

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

BY ELY CULBERTSON, World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

An Accessory Before the

Down in the city of Washington, the capital of the United States, there lives a bridge player who recently conducted a Duplicate game there. In the hands as they were dealt, he inserted a hand from another source to demonstrate the vagaries of distribution, and then sat down with his charming partner (I do not fel at liberty to disclose the identity of the gentleman or whether or not it was his wife) to play the hand. The joker held the East cards pictured below, while his fair partner was West. South—Dealer. North and South vulnerable.

South bid only six spades, and when West took home the club Ace, the Declarer in the South spread her cards on the table, saying:

"The rest are mine."

"One minute." protested East.

"Let's play this thing out."

"You are wasting time." South retorted. "but have your way," leaving her hand of course, exposed.

And West, who has been playing Contract for some years, scanned the three hands for three or four minutes, heaved a sigh of resignation, and laid down a trump.

My correspondent, in recounting this experience, said that the lady still lives, and submitted this knotty question in ethics:

Should she?

This I refuse to answer, because there is a law which punishes accessories before the fact.

Todays' Pointer.

The practice of claiming tricks without being sure of ability to fulfill them is dangerous. The laws provide that when the Declarer claims the remaining trick, or any number of them, he may be required to place his cards face up on the table, and may not take any finesse not already proved to be good, nor refuse to trump a doubtful trick.

Tomorrow's Hand. The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed to-morrow: North-Dealer. Neither side vulnerable.

Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article. (Copyright, 1982, for The Constitution.)

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.
Mr. Culbertson will be glad to answer questions on bidding and play of hands sent in by readers.

The Store All Women Know

While I am a great admirer of Louisiana products, especially lake shrimp, oysters, crawfish gumbo, ceps mushrooms and certain other comestibles and foods, it had never occurred to your youthful commentator to suspect that the crop of athletes in the land of excessive humidity was anything to become unduly excited about.

Of course, there was, or is, the Tulane football team which for the past two or three seasons has been an acute pain in the

Of course, there was, or is, the Tulane football team which for the past two or three seasons has been an acute pain in the neck to the brothers in the Southern conference. But not until the present Olympic games had the Louisiana athletes become a beam in the public eye.

A check of the teams reveals the rather interesting fact that Louisians has six men and, guess what—a sloop—of all things—on the Olympic team. That sloop is coals of fire on the heads of the rivals of the Cajum people.

The south has some brilliant young ladies on the swimming team, notable among them being Miss Louisa Robert, of Atlanta, and Miss Catherine Rawls, of Miami. Probably the sloop should be listed with the ladies as ships are always referred to as femine by poets and water front reporters.

Sidney Bowman and Slats Hardin, from L. S. U.;
Emmett Toppino and Roland Romero, of Loyola, are the Louisiana track men who came through to make the team. Eddie Flynn, twice national A. A. U. boxing champion at 145 pounds, and Doylass Hill, of Tulane, alternate in the heavyweight ranks, and James Perrin, in the 112-pound ranks, are the New Orleans boxers on the team. Three other athletes barely missed out.

The sloop, named The Jupiter, is owned and manned by Gilbert Gray, of New Orleans. Thus the Louisiana delegates are six men on the team, one alternate and one sloop.

Someone must have innoculated the Louisiana athletes with some super-paprika.

THE MARATHON HOLDS INTERESTS.

at Stockholm. He ran on a hot day and when he finished they could not stop him. His mind and his muscles were so set on the pace that friends had to run out on the track and pull him down after he had circled the stadium track and had the victor's wreath placed about his neck. There were some great stories written of that race and I recall one yet which began, "McArthur, the great mounted patrolman from South Africa, was first through the gates. A great shout went up which turned to murmurs of pity as the huge man, ropes of foam falling from his mouth, and circled the track and officials ran out and threw the olive wreath about his neck. But McArthur, his eyes glazed, ran on. He could not stop. Friends rushed out and pulled him down."

GREEK WON FIRST ONE.

It was poetic justice that the first marathon, in the 1896 revival of the games, should have been a Greek, a shepherd from the hills, Spiridion Louys. The story goes that the Greek of ficials burt by a lack of victories made him a public here as foundation. ficials, hurt by a lack of victories, made him a public hero as long as he lived. And Prince Constantine rushed out, at the finish, and ran the last few yards with the little shepherd.

I have often wondered, reading the story of that marathon, if the Greeks kept their promises which were to feed him as long as he lived, to shave him free, to clothe him gratis. There were other largesses. And, too, I've wondered if Louvs became a bore who sat about the market place telling of his victories.

The 1904 Olympics saw an American win. But the story was in fourth place. A little Havana postman, wearing a pair of ordinary street shoes, such as he wore carrying the mail in Havana, and a pair of old pants cut short to running trunks, finished fourth. He ran along without any aides, taking food which spectators handed him along the route and picking a few apples from trees for their juice.

Men have died running the marathon. It is the one race which carries the most tradition behind it. The dashes, the middle distance and the field events all fade.

In fact, the nation which wins the marathon feels it has won the Olympic games. Because the run from Marathon to Athens started these games.

Cracker Pitcher Works 16 Innings and Wins Five Games, All in 11 Days.

By Ralph McGill.

Sixteen innings pitched—five games won!
That is the amazing record which Kella Bob Hasty, the tall pitcher from Canton, Ga., and now a citizen of Marietta, has hung up since he joined the Crackers as a regular on July 17.

Those 16 innings have been pitched in 11 days, to make the record all the more remarkable. And no relief pitcher in years can offer the record which the tall Georgian has hung up for the boys to shoot at. Those critics of the Crackers laughed out loud when Bob Hasty sat

Pirates Win Pair And Increase Lead Pittsburgh Takes Double Bill From Giants

Second Time; Scores: 10-7 and 9-1; Margin Is 5½ Games.

NEW YORK, July 28.—Pittsburgh's mighty Pirates gave another convincing demonstration of their strength by winning their second consecutive double-header from the Giants to make it five victories in a row. The scores were 10 to 7 and 9 to 1.

This added a half game to the Pirates' lead, giving them a margin of

That the new Southern league "dead" ball has curbed hitting in the league fully 25 per cent is the belief of R. G. (Bob) Allen, vecteran president of the Knoxville baseball club.

It was through Allen's persistent efforts that President John D. Martin first took steps to abolish the rabbit ball. Martin himself is pleased with the decline in wholesale flogging of the ball with the induction of the less lively sphere.

"Those two long files that McHenry. of your club, hit off us Tuesday night would have been home runs in the old days, but both were caught," he pointed out.

This commission of seven, composed of two Swedes, a German, an American, a Frenchman, a Hungarian and an Englishman, reviewed the whole case in an all-day session, reconsidered the charges that Nurmi received money in excess of his expenses for European "barnstorming" competition and then voted unanimously to keep the erstwhile phantom Finn from the Olympics.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 28.—On the eve of the Olympic start, Mildred "Tex" Didrikson has just one secret worry. Being limited to only three events, the Javelin, the hurdles and the high jump, she doesn't feel she will get enough exercise to keep her weight just where she

"How can anyone enter eleven events in one track meet and not be

"Oh, once in a while I get a little tired," she said, "but I always feel great a few hours later. Why should I get tired? I'm young and strong and I could play one game or another all day long."

"What is your favorite sport?" I asked the Texas typhoon. "I haven't any favorite," she answered. "I like to run, jump, hurdle, throw the javelin and discus and baseball, but I'm just as keen about swimming, boxing, basketball, tennis and golf. I like any game. I guess one reason I don't get tired is that they are all fun."

"How did you happen to start covering 30 much ground?" I asked.
"I first started with basketball," Miss Didrikson answered. "Then I began to branch out. That was about two years ago. I found most of or maybe it was just a natural knack."

"There isn't any natural knack about golf," I suggested, "unless you start young."
"Oh, yes there is," she said. "I suppose I have played golf about twelve or fourteen times and on my last round I had an 82. That isn't so hot, but after these Olympic games are over I'm going to start in practicing for the women's championship at Salem." Misses Hicks and Wilson and Mrs. Vare kindly take notice.

Waddey Trains Sights On Big League Career

Former Tech Star, Now 26, Is Hitting .400 for Knoxville and Going Good.

On July 7, Frank was a free agent. He had been on a vain tour of the Class B circuits seeking a job. This to a young married man is a most perplexing state of circumstance. Then Bob Allen, the veteran owner of the Smokies and quite a hand at ferreting out ball players, heard about Frank and got him on the wire. Bob needed an outfielder, as Tommy Taylor had a freshly broken leg. So he signed Frank up.

a nice batch of currency some day.

"I am playing ball now for a living, and to a married man that's the main thing," said Waddey.

After-ending his career on the great Tech football team of 1928, Waddey decided to enter professional baseball. Memphis signed him and sent him to Knoxville, where he led the old Sally league in hitting in 1929. The next year he had another bumper season with Memphis and the St. Louis Browns called him up for a trial.

SAT ON BENCH.

Browns called him up for a trial.

SAT ON BENCH.

"They kept me on the bench so long that when I came back to the minors I couldn't hit a lick," Waddey stated.

The uncertain status of the minors at the moment has been of considerable concern to Frank, just as it is to other young players. It is worse than a nightmare now to be out of a job in baseball, with at least six good minor leagues blown up. The "missmeal" ailment, as Tubby Walton calls it, has become one of wide prevalence among ball players.

During his brief stay with various clubs, Waddey said he must have seen 400 players come and go. With only a few A and AA leagues running, they have few openings.

SOUGHT JOB HERE.

Waddey had hoped he would be able to catch on with the Atlanta Crackers. He wired for a job here but at the time the Cracker outled was clicking pretty good. So he took the next best and that was Knoxville.

The next year Mack again sent men to look at him at Memphis, but unfortunately Waddy developed a sore arm just as the A's were figuring on putting in a claim for him in the draft. While here, Waddey inquired after the health of his old teammates on the 1928 Tech team. He was amused to hear of the antics of that roughand-ready fullback, Father Lumpkin, and his old tackle friend, Frank Speer, on the wrestling mat.

NEW YORK, July 28.—(4?)—The securities markets surged upward again today, with stocks making substantial net gains, in the face of a flood of profit-taking.

The stock market came the closest to a 3,000,000 share day so far in 1932, with a turnover of 2,723,325 shares, the largest since December.

It gained considerable support from the strength of bonds, which attracted the most active buying in weeks. Shares fell back somewhat in the last hours, however, but speculators for the rise were encouraged by a slackening in the volume of trading as the market eased off.

Net gains in a number of last was supported to the rise were encouraged by a slackening in the volume of trading as the market eased off.

in the volume of trading as the late teased off.

Net gains in a number of leading shares ranged from 1 to more than 4 points, but the price index of 90 issues advanced only 1.4 points, against 2.2 yesterday.

The move in shares was helped by the pronounced strength of the American dollar in the foreign exchange markets, suggesting a return flow of gold, which, while not actually needed, might facilitate the credit expansion program of the reserve system. Wheat and cotton also bulged up for a time, but reacted along with shares in the late trading.

but reacted along with shares in the late trading.

The Bethlehem Steel Corporation took the action most widely expected in announcing omission of its preferred dividend after the close. Its quarterly deficit after charges was no larger than expected, and unlike United States Steel, the corporation was actually able to break even from operations.

American Telephone was a leader was actually able to break even from operations.

American Telephone was a leader, surging up 5 1-2 points to 88, and closing a point under the top. DuPont and Allied Chemical were actively bought, pushing up about 3 and 4 points, then reacting one. Union Pacific pushed up about 5, and finished up 1-2 net. Santa Fe closed 2 3-4 higher. There was a notable upturn in the coppers. Oils were sluggish for a time, but moved ahead eventually, some advancing fractionally to new 1932 highs.

The Bethlehem issues were only moderately active, the preferring closing up about 1, and the common unchanged. United States Steel preferred rose 2 3-4, then slipped back 2. The common finished a shade higher.

The surprising aspect of the weekly bank statement was the slight decline of $1,00,000 in brokers' loans. This suggested that while there may have been some increases in borrowing for new buying, the rise in the market had been used to accomplish an off-setting degree of liquidation.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

LONDON—A good undertone developed on the atock exchange on cheery Wall Street news which helped improve trans-Atlantic issues. Steady purchases of war loan issues and other gilt-edged securities, including Indian ahares, continued. Iron, ateel and oil shares were prominent features and the close was firm.

PARIS—The firm closing in New York and the rise in metals atimulated prices on the bourse which were firm despite monthly actitement liquidation. French rentes and international issues were steady and bank shares strong. The market closed firm.

NEW YORK, July 28.—A turnover of nearly 3,000,000 shares, the largest volume of any full session since December of last year, today put the general stock market into new high ground for this recovery.

Pivotal stocks such as American Cenn, Allied Chemical, Union Pacific and Consolidate Gas, in which there has been a large professional short interest, were prominent for their strength and activity.

Those professional bears who have been opposing the current recovery are understood to have received a good "squeezing" and their frantic efforts to extricate themselves from the short side of the market was responsible to a substantial degree for the sharpness of the upward movement.

Some profit-taking developed in the late dealings and prices eased off from the best, but traders went home in a cheerful mood, believing that any recessions in prices now will be considered opportunities to purchase shares.

Commodity prices continued to show recessions in prices now will be considered opportunities to purchase shares.

Commodity prices continued to show firmness, as did the general bond market. The continued strength of commodities and bonds, the bulls believe, will play a prominent part in the business recovery which the Street is anticipating for the fall.

OMIT BETHLEHEM DIVIDEND.

Perhaps the only thing that marred an otherwise cheerful day was the action of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation directors who after the close of trading omitted the dividend on the preferred stock due at this time. The board undoubtedly was moved to this action by the fact that the corporation reported a deficit of $4,671,260 for the second quarter of this year, following a loss of $3,685,760 for the first quarter.

E. G. Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel, said there was a change in sentiment but that it had not yet begun to be reflected in Bethlehem's volume of business.

BRIGHT STEEL SPOT.

The sole bright spot in the steel industry continues to be furnished by the National Steel Corporation which today announced that it had earned 53 cents a share on its stock in the first six months of this year.

This is three cents a share in excess of dividend requirements for that period.

Bank stocks again were strong and

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

It was maddening to the girl to feel she might even be forging deeper into this forbidding country further from the railway. Whatever else she may further from the railway. Whatever else she may have been Olga was no coward, yet she hesitated to go on.

By now she should have struck the road again. When this failed, she became really anxious. Her horse was tired, and night, she knew, would find her in a wild, trackless country notorious for its savage beasts. FINANCIAL

This is an economical menu planned by the home economics bureau of the United States department of agriculture. The recipes will serve five persons—two adults and three children. These menus are planned to give a maximum of nourishment with a minimum of cost.

Fish Chowder—One and one-half pounds fresh cod, haddock or any other large fish, two cups diced potatoes, one cup diced carrots, one quart wafer. one-fourth pound salt pork, diced; one onion, chopped: two tablespoons flour, one pint milk, salt, pepper. Cut the fish into small pieces and remove the bones and skin. Cook fish, potatoes and carrots in the water.

All must expend more time and care on herself in summer than she does in witner. And yet summer is the time when the average lass becomes rather languid and lazy, and feels somewhat inclined to neglect her appearance.

That's one thing that she can't afford to do, however, if she wants to look fresh and charming during the hot months. She's got to care for every feature of her body. And she's got to give her face special care if she doesn't want it to look hot, moist and shiny.

It's quite a difficult task to keep the face looking cool and clean during the "dog-days" when the heat inclined to neglect her appearance.

Make-up also has some influence on the fresh, cool appearance of the face. Heavy make-up in hot weather is a decided mistake. The powder is inclined to cake, the rouge to streak and the eyeshadow to form funny little lines on the eyelids when applied too heavily. And it all looks obviously and unprettily artificial in the telltale-bright sunlight.

telltale bright sunlight.

Apply your make-up with a light hand during the out-door season. Your rouge, lipstick and eyeshadow should be blended on most carefully and subtly. And your powder should be applied sparingly, especially on areas where it is inclined to cake easily, as at the corners of the nose and the sides of the mouth. If you treat your skin properly with cleaners and freshening lotions, and you apply your make-up prudently, only a bit of retouching should be required now and then to preserve the cool, smooth appearance of your face.
